

Efforts to Settle Major Strikes Are Continued in Vain

Telephone Negotiations Broken Off; UAW to Intensify Strike

The latest efforts to settle two of the country's major labor controversies had failed today.

The CIO United Auto Workers prepared to intensify their 104-day old strike against General Motors Corp., as the threat of a nationwide telephone tieup Thursday continued unabated.

UAW-CIO leaders expressed disdain for a GM proposal that the union let its 175,000 idle members decide by secret ballot whether the strike should be prolonged.

Rejecting the union's plan for arbitration of the dispute, GM yesterday proposed a poll of the UAW-CIO rank and file on the corporation's offer of an 18 1/2 cents hourly wage increase.

Union leaders, who are battling for the 19 1/2 cents boost recommended by presidential fact finders, declared GM did not "dare" to arbitrate and termed the proposal for a back-to-work ballot an "unwarranted interference in the affairs of a democratic union."

Intensification Threatened

The union previously had warned rejection by GM of the arbitration plan would force the UAW-CIO "to intensify strike action and to carry on until the strike is won."

Despite the deadlock, special federal mediator James F. Dewey summoned both sides to meet again this morning to "see where we go from here, and try to work something out."

The prospect of averting a telephone tieup seemed dim after break-up early today of a negotiating session between the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and representatives of employees who handle the nation's long distance calls.

John J. Moran, president of the Long Lines Telephone Workers, said his members will go on strike as scheduled at 6 a. m. Thursday along with 16 other groups affiliated with the Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers.

A A T & T official said the company had suggested continuing the negotiations but a future meeting had not been set. A T & T yesterday raised its previous offer of a 14.3 cents hourly wage increase to 15 cents, but Moran, terming this "a peanut offer," said the union still is demanding 18 1/2 cents.

Other Developments

As around 800,000 continued idle in labor disputes, there were these other labor developments:

1. A new development came in the 19-week strike of independent San Francisco machinists which has idled 50,000 related workers. At Fresno, delegates to the California Conference of Machinists endorsed the pledge of Harry W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists, to effect an early settlement of the wage dispute.

2. A General Electric Co. spokesman said GE has given the mayor of Philadelphia "ironclad assurance" no attempt will be made to hire strikebreakers at the Quaker City plant where mass picketing was outlawed by a court injunction. Officials of the striking CIO Electrical Workers Union had indicated the union would abandon its defiance of the injunction if the company gave assurance it would not use strike-breakers.

Meanwhile, Albert C. Fitzgerald, union president, said he would seek immediate action to prevent General Electric and Westinghouse from "fomenting strife and violence in community after community" in a conference today with Attorney General Tom Clark.

Westinghouse and union leaders were to meet today in New York in conciliation conferences aimed at settling the 48-day dispute. Involved in the wage dispute are 175,000 workers at GE and Westinghouse.

3. The soft coal industry's answer to John L. Lewis' request for reopening of mine wage talks was reported in preparation. It probably will reach Lewis within the next day or two.

Democratic Group for Battle to Save New Housing Plan

Hannegan Wires Plea to All House-Followers for Aid in Fight

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—The Democratic party staked its congressional prestige today on a desperate bid to salvage the administration's imperiled housing program.

Simultaneously, Chester Bowles who marshaled his entire economic high command for a blistering week-end blast at price control setbacks on Capitol Hill ran into a Republican demand that he resign as stabilization boss.

Robert Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, assumed personal leadership of the eleventh-hour campaign to save President Truman's home-for-veterans program by wiring each of the 239 Democrats in the house:

"Your action today may advance or delay the solution to the nation's housing problem. Your presence and support of the administration's veterans housing program is imperative.

"Solid GOP Opposition

"Solid partisan Republican opposition to essential parts of this program, especially premium (subsidy) payments, threatens to torpedo the measure. The Democratic party will be held responsible by the country for failure to solve the housing crisis, not the Republicans. We cannot let this happen. Am

Immorality Prevalent Among U.S. Soldiers in Europe Says Parson

Frankfurt, Germany, March 4.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Miller G. White, deputy chief of staff in Europe, said tonight the Army probably will investigate immediately charges that German women were being permitted to live in bachelor quarters within the U. S. forces headquarters compound here.

He said the Army was not going to raid officers' quarters, but if individual cases were reported the Army probably would take "strict disciplinary action" for conduct unbecoming gentlemen.

A high officer said, without permission to use his name, that there probably were dozens of women spending one or more nights within the closely guarded enclosure which contains Army headquarters and officers and civilians billets.

A U. S. Army chaplain said today that the "prevalence" of immorality in Europe had been brought into the open by publication of a letter asserting that German girls are allowed to "live" with American officers at the compound here.

The letter, written by a British girl and published in the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes said in part:

"Why should German girls be allowed to live in the compound with American officers? I know of several instances and if neces-

Say Activities in Canada Ordered by Moscow: King

Ottawa, March 4.—(AP)—Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King made public today a report on the leakage of official secrets which declared "the evidence reveals that these operations were carried on by certain members of the staff of the Soviet embassy at Ottawa under direct instructions from Moscow."

Russian agents were instructed by Moscow in August, 1945, near the end of the war in the Pacific, to obtain "information as to the transfer of American troops from Europe to the United States and the Pacific," the two-man royal investigating commission declared in a report to King.

The location of headquarters of a score of United States army divisions or corps, and those of the U. S. Ninth army, were sought by Col. Nicolai Zabotin, military attache of the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, the announcement said.

The report declared that Col. Zabotin had been instructed to get the following information:

1. Particulars as to the material of which the atomic bomb is composed; its technological process and drawings.

2. Details of "electronic shells used by the American navy."

3. "Samples of uranium-235 with details as to the plant where it was produced."

4. "Location of the Brazilian infantry division (which fought in Italy) and lists of the Canadian army divisions which had returned to Canada."

Moscow announced recently that Zabotin was recalled from Ottawa last December.

The royal commission announced—

Grain Ceiling Boost Eases Pressure of Farm Bloc Groups

New Appropriation Still in Doubt; New Prices Effective Today

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—Boosts in ceiling prices on grains today softened some congressional criticism of OPA but still left in doubt the agency's chances of getting a requested $1,854,000 deficiency appropriation.

OPA has been under particular fire from farm state legislators critical of former grain ceilings and concerned over a possible price ceiling on raw cotton.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) of the senate agriculture committee told reporters he was glad to see OPA "finally paying some attention" to directives from congress concerning farm prices. He called the grain increases "long overdue."

New Prices in Effect

Before OPA announced the increases Saturday, Thomas had contended the agency was creating a "black market in grain" by holding down prices unlawfully and then asking congress for money to investigate the black market.

He referred to the request $1,854,000 appropriation to be spent between now and June 30. This includes funds for additional OPA enforcement agents. The senate appropriations committee cut the request in half—to $927,000—and was upheld by the senate.

However, the final sum OPA is to get is yet to be determined. The house approved the $1,854,000. A joint committee will try to work

Supreme Court Will Hear Illinois Case

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—Three Illinois residents complained to the Supreme court today that rights of citizens of that state in congressional elections "have been clamped about by a sort of illegal straight-jacket."

The three filed a brief of their efforts to force remapping of the congressional districts in Illinois. They appealed from a decision of a special three-judge U. S. district court in Chicago.

The district court criticized the Illinois legislature for not charging the state's 1901 apportionment act, but said it could do nothing about it.

"We respectfully assert," the brief said, "that it may be taken for granted that the straight-jacket in Illinois will continue, and the 'legislative rebellion' on the part of the general assembly of the state will go on, unless and until some legal 'atomic bomb' shall be dropped on the situation in that state."

The Supreme court likely will hear arguments on the case late this week. The three Illinois residents who filed the case: Kenneth W. Colegrove of Northwestern university; Kenneth C. Sears of the University of Chicago, and Peter J. Chamales, an attorney.

U. of I. Enrollment May Set New High

Champaign, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—With the 78th anniversary of its founding behind it, the University of Illinois looked ahead today to a new semester in which its officials estimate enrollment may top all previous records.

As registration for the new term opened on Founders' Day Saturday, Provost Coleman R. Griffith settled for 12,000 as a conservative estimate of the number of students who will be enrolled when classes for the coming semester get under way Wednesday.

The enrollment may reach 13,000, exceeding the previous high of 12,631 in 1938-39. If all of the 2,000 available accommodations provided for veterans at nearby Chanute Field are filled, he said.

The rush of new students—about 4,000 freshmen are expected to be enrolled during the spring term—held the ceremonies for the University's anniversary celebration to a minimum.

First Regent Honored

Chimes were sounded for every year in the University's past as President Arthur Cutts Willard laid a wreath on the grave of John Milton Gregory, the first regent. At a party Saturday night, a birthday cake four feet long, four tiers high was cut by Victor Cullen of Chicago, president of the Alumni association.

Because of the added space acquired through use of Chanute field barracks, the University has been free to accept all qualified students except freshman engineers. After more than 1,000 first year students registered in the College of Engineering, the University was forced to halt registration in that department because of a lack of facilities.

Negro Admits Double Murder

Deaths of Indiana Man and Companion in Quarry Solved

Slayer Says He Was Attacked After Finding Them in Embrace

Indianapolis, March 4.—(AP)—Captain Robert O'Neal of the state police said today Joseph Luther Woolridge, chunky Negro handyman, had signed a confession to the slaying last Friday of a Bloomington, Ind., business man and his chestnut-haired feminine companion in an abandoned mill near Bloomington.

The victims were Russell Koontz, 43, superintendent of the Empire stone quarry of Bloomington, and Mrs. Phyllis Coleman, 32, an employee in a Bloomington creamery. Both were married, and had been associated in the choir of the Clear Creek Christian church.

O'Neal said Woolridge, a former boxer, related in detail that he found his victims in a compromising position in the mill.

According to the confession, Woolridge struck the man with a window sash weight as the man lunged at him. The statement said he then tied up the woman and strangled her later with a rope.

Shortly after Woolridge had signed the confession, he was taken to the state reformatory at Pendleton pending a grand jury investigation. This is to open at Bloomington Wednesday.

Capt. O'Neal said the Negro told of going to the quarry Friday afternoon while on a groundhog hunt.

The officer said Woolridge gave this version of the slayings:

Found Couple Embracing

Woolridge went into the mill where he said he found Koontz and Mrs. Coleman in an embrace. He said he watched the couple for a while and then was noticed by Koontz, who remarked, "Do you know who I am?" Woolridge said he told Koontz he knew his identity and he said Koontz then said, "You'll never live to tell."

The Negro said Koontz then lunged at him and he seized a sash weight and struck Koontz.

He then felt the man's heart and believed him to be dead. He then took the woman into a tool

Big Bank Robbery Nets Five Gunmen $2 Loot in Stamps

Cashier, Watchman Get Free "Ride" After They Foil the Bandits

Herscher, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—Cashier Walter Payne of the State Bank of Herscher, who was held prisoner for more than an hour yesterday by five robbers, reported only $2 in postage stamps missing when he came back after his release to determine the loot.

Payne, 51, and Edwin Etzel, 40, the town's night patrolman, interrupted the gang's attempted robbery of the bank about 3 a. m. yesterday, they told the FBI, were fired at from a strange automobile parked outside the building and then taken for a "ride" that ended with their release in the Cook county Argonne Forest preserve.

Could Have Got $10,000

FBI officials, who entered the case because of the possibility that federally insured deposits were taken, earlier had said the loss might run as high as $10,000.

They based their estimate on a report received from George Grob, bank president, who said the robbers had knocked the knobs off the bank's vault and cut their way into the strong box which contained about $10,000.

The robbers' unfinished business was interrupted. Etzel told the FBI when he noticed the strange automobile parked outside the bank and walked to Payne's home to summon the cashier.

Met By Gunfire

They returned together in Payne's car, Etzel said, cut the lights and coasted to a stop, only to be greeted by a burst of gunfire from the other car.

Truman Will Play Supporting Role in Missouri Journey

Introduces Churchill for Fulton Speech; Goes to Columbus Next

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—President Truman leaves for Missouri today and a celebration in which he will yield the spotlight in his home state to Winston Churchill.

The former British prime minister will be the principal speaker at Westminster college tomorrow afternoon a few hours after their arrival in Fulton.

The chief executive's only role is to introduce the wartime leader who will speak on foreign policy.

Make Trip by Air

The trip, Mr. Truman's first of 1946, also will be his first back to Missouri by train since he entered the White House.

The president and Mr. Churchill, who arrived from Florida yesterday and spent the night at the British embassy, will leave at 1 p. m. (CST) over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

They will switch to the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis Tuesday morning for the run to Jefferson City. From there they will motor to Fulton.

Accompanying Churchill to Washington were Mrs. Churchill and their daughter, Mrs. Sarah Oliver, who will be guests at the White House beginning tonight.

Moves to Columbus

The president resumes the role of principal attraction when he moves on to Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, also by rail. There he will address a special session of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America on the place of religion in American democracy.

Mr. Truman plans to fly back to Washington aboard his far-traveled "sacred cow" after the Columbus address, although most

Congress Urged to Look at Bank Balance Before It Writes Checks

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—Congress got a suggestion from some of its own members today that it look searchingly into the nation's prospective bank balance before it sits down to write any checks.

This proposal to clamp a "ceiling" on appropriations came from the special senate-house committee on organization of congress which said in its formal report that there now is no congressional coordination between revenue-raising and spending.

Other major recommendations contained in the 35-page report on a year's study into how congress could improve and streamline its operations included:

1. Authorization for each member to employ "a high-caliber administrative assistant at an annual salary of $8,000" to handle such non-legislative work as helping a constituent obtain something from a government department. The Nazi Police Chief Claims He Tried to Assist O. S. S.

Nuernberg, Germany, March 4.—(AP)—Scar-faced Ernst Kaltenbrunner, No. 2 boss of Nazi police, portrayed himself today as a secret negotiator for peace who had been in contact with United States agents since 1943.

Kaltenbrunner claimed he had worked toward achieving peace through the headquarters of the American Office of Strategic Services in Switzerland.

The defendant, on trial with other erstwhile Nazi bigwigs before the international military tribunal here, alleged that Dr. Wilhelm Hoettl, deputy groupenleiter in Heinrich Himmler's police headquarters and now confined in the Nuremberg jail, was his intermediary.

Steward Man Gets Year At Vandalia

John "Steamer" Olson of Steward was sentenced to serve one year at the state work farm at Vandalia late Saturday at a hearing conducted before Judge Grover Gehant in Lee county court.

Olson was taken in custody early Saturday morning together with Rudolph Reppene at Steward by Sheriff L. E. Bates who was called to investigate a disturbance Reppene was assessed a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of disturbing the peace, which was paid.

According to Sheriff Bates, the difficulty followed a drinking spree Friday night in Reppene's section of a double house occupied by both Reppene and Olson. Olson and a woman companion were reported to have participated in the spree and Olson left the Reppene quarters without his friend. Later he decided to return but found the door locked. Olson, according to the sheriff, then returned to his rooms, loaded a shot gun and walked to the front door of Reppene's quarters where he fired a blast through the door which satisfied his anger and he then returned to his rooms.

Two Babies Among Victims of Crash in West on Sunday

San Diego, Calif., March 4.—(AP)—Bodies of 27 victims of commercial aviation's worst crash—against the side of a mountain 45 miles east of here—were being removed from the wreckage today.

The first bodies, found by shocked sheriff's deputies and Navy sailors, were those of two infants. They were brought to a mortuary here.

Removal of the 25 other victims, 15 men and 10 women, was delayed by the difficulties of the terrain.

They had to be carried by litter a half mile to bulldozed road, where Navy jeeps were waiting to take them two miles further to an emergency coroner's station and waiting ambulances.

Mountain Fog—Hidden

The American Airlines plane, bound from Dallas, Tex., to San Diego, on a New York to Los Angeles run, crashed into the slope of fog-hidden Thing mountain yesterday.

It crashed and burned, except for tail and one wing, a few minutes after reporting at 8:13 a. m. (CST) it was over El Centro, Calif.

The crash was the worst in commercial airlines history. On Jan. 10, 1945, 24 were killed in an American Airlines plane near Los Angeles.

Hail and snowstorms hampered the rescue parties and the path-clearing crew. Progress up the 8,000-foot peak was slow. A sheriff's party reached the crash scene, 1,500 feet from the summit, yesterday afternoon. They found all but the tail section and a part of the wing had been destroyed by flames.

Plane Apparently Bounced

A newspaper reporter who reached the scene said the big airliner appeared to have bounced several hundred feet after striking the mountain. The plane struck near a road leading through the Manzanita Indian reservation.

The bodies of 23 adults and two infants were found by searchers before the hunt was abandoned to await the dawn. Bodies of the other two passengers are believed to be in the charred wreckage.

Eight Navy planes that attempted to fly over the mountain were forced back yesterday by strong winds and fog, but a Coast Guard plane later discovered the wreckage from the air and started the search.

The flight originated in New York at 12:02 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Saturday. Sixteen passengers boarded the plane at Dallas, Tex., at 1:41 a. m. Central Standard Time. Sunday, Capt. S. L. Stoner, the pilot, was under orders to cruise at 8,000 feet to avoid the lofty Laguna mountain range, American Airlines officials said.

Revised Passenger List

The revised list of passengers and crew members of the plane: Passengers: Cmdr. R. D. Robinson, USN, San Diego, Calif.; W. C. Berdine, Navy Chief Petty Officer, San Diego; Lt. Milton L. Harvey, boarded plane in New York, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Pfc. Eugene Mills, Marine Corps, residence unknown; L. J. Baker, Fort Worth, Tex.; J. H. Menge, San Antonio, Tex.; Mrs. C. C. Bradbury, Inglewood, Calif.; Miss Gladys de Lancy, South Pasadena, Calif.; Miss Annette Abernathy, Jacksonville, Fla.; William Battersby, Berkeley, Calif.; E. J. Lang, Zurich, Switzerland; Sgt. L. A. D. A. R. Members Hear Interesting Talk By Mrs. Crawford Thomas

The Dixon chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in the Loveland Community House Saturday afternoon. After the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by D. A. R. members, the regent, Mrs. Grover W. Gehant, presided at a short business meeting. Mrs. W. D. White of Polo led in the singing of the new Illinois song.

Miss Estella Anderson, who was in charge of the program for the afternoon, announced that the first number was an instrumental quartet. This quartet consists of Richard Belcher, violin; Miss Margaret Anderson, flute; Mrs. Norma Wakefield, cello, and Miss Lorraine Missman, piano. They played two selections, "Robin's Farewell" and "Minuet." The next number on the program was a solo by Mrs. H. D. White, "The Angelus," by Thurlow Lience. Her accompanist was Miss Loala Quick.

After these delightful musical numbers, Mrs. C. A. Thomas gave an interesting talk on D. A. R. approved schools. She told about the two D. A. R. schools solely supported by the Daughters of the American Revolution, which are Kate Duncan Smith school of Grant, Marshall county, Alabama, on Gunter mountain, and Tamassee D. A. R. school at Tamassee, South Carolina.

She continued, by saying that the D. A. R. also contribute to the support of the following schools: American International College, Springfield, Mass.; Berea college, Berea, Ky.; the Berry schools, Mount Berry, Georgia; Blue Ridge Industrial school, Bris. Va.; Carr Creek Community Center, Carr Creek, Ky.; Crossmore School, Inc., Crossmore, North Carolina; Hillside School, Inc., Marlborough, Mass.; Hindman Settlement School, Hindman, Ky.; Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn.; Northland College, Ashland, Wis.; Marysville College, Marysville, Tenn.; Pine Mountain Settlement school, Pine Mountain, Ky.

Mrs. Thomas said that these splendid schools were striving with us to instill into the minds and hearts of young America those principles upon which our nation was founded and for which our own sons, and the boys from our schools were fighting side by side. As the Daughters of the Revolution help to sew the seeds of patriotic education in the minds of these young people, so shall our country reap the harvest in the future of America.

She told of the work being done in the American International college at Lowell, Mass., where students of all nationalities are welcomed. In 1920 there were 30 students of foreign birth enrolled, representing 13 nationalities. Berea college, Berea, Ky., expressed its primary for the people of the southern mountains, specifically for those students over fifteen years of age who otherwise would be unable to obtain educational facilities of the kind offered here.

She said that Northland college, Ashland, Wis., is one of the approved schools of the D. A. R., and in fact, the only approved school in the north. The college is located in the cutover land of northern Wisconsin at a distance of over two hundred miles from the nearest liberal arts college in the state and serves a wide area of northern Wisconsin, northern Michigan, and northern Minnesota.

A social hour followed the meeting with Mrs. F. J. Trautwein serving at an attractive tea table. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. B. Lennon, Mrs. Blinn W. Bryan, Mrs. Gertrude Carpenter, Mrs. G. W. Lindquist and Mrs. W. F. Bovey.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Mrs. Frederick Lawton was pleasantly surprised at her home Saturday by a few friends in honor of her birthday. Mrs. Lawton received a number of gifts. Later in the evening refreshments were served. Those present were Mesdames Lyle Bellow, Edward Lawton, Elwood Rickard, Emerson Rorer and Miss Jeanne Hemmen.

POSTPONED
The Foreign Travel club will meet at the Loveland Community House at 8 p.m., Thursday, March 14. The speaker will be Dr. Raymond Worsley, who will tell about his experiences in the Aleutian islands while he was in the armed forces. The meeting was originally scheduled for this Thursday.

MID-WINTER PICNIC
The annual mid-winter picnic at the Prairieville church will be held on Wednesday evening, March 6 at 7 o'clock. Invitations are extended to all new neighbors and friends of the community. Guests are asked to bring their own table service sugar and a dish to pass.

Miss Dona Pieschel Chosen Fraternity Queen at Dance

Miss Dona Pieschel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pieschel was recently chosen queen of a dance held by the Illinois Medical school in Chicago. Miss Pieschel, who was selected by one of the six judges who picked a girl for each fraternity of the school, was elected Miss Phi Beta Phi.

Dona was put up against five other beauties and on the final decision of the judges was selected queen over all fraternities and the dance.

Bob Braman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Braman, was Miss Pieschel's escort at the dance. Bob is a member of the Phi Beta Phi medical fraternity.

MISS RUTH ANNING IS GUEST SPEAKER AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Miss Ruth Anning of Evanston was the guest speaker at St. Luke's Episcopal church last Friday evening when she addressed the women of both Guilds and the work of the auxiliary and its far reaching activities. She said its primary work is the extension of Christ's Kingdom and since organization in 1872 has been continuation of the missionary work started among the Indians and Negroes. Today thousands of dollars are spent for salaries alone for missionary teachers in addition to clothing, food and equipment supplied to missions both in America and abroad.

Miss Anning quoted an Army chaplain's report of the christianizing work among the natives of New Guinea who a few generations ago were head-hunters. The natives were very kind to the wounded G.I.s and carried them down steep mountains to aid stations below.

Members of St. Luke's Evening Guild served as hostesses: Mrs. Joseph C. Mason, Mrs. Zolton Glatzer, Miss Virginia Geer and Jeanne Hemmen. Mrs. Ira Lanchier presided at the refreshment table.

ELECT OFFICERS
The Nimble Thimble club met with Mrs. Ward Fisher, Thursday, Feb. 28 at 2 p.m. Eleven members were present to elect new officers who are: Mrs. Kenneth Dusing, president; Mrs. Clyde Taylor, vice president; Mrs. Francis Bowers, secretary-treasure. New names were drawn for secret pals for this year. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Gene Kishbaugh on March 14 at 2 p.m.

C and S CLUB
The C and S Club of the Church of the Brethren will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ira Utz, 816 West Third street. Members are asked to note that this meeting is for Thursday, instead of Tuesday evening as previously announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Callis Woodson Pollard of Norfolk, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Jean Grace Pollard, to Leut. (jg) Robert Henry Kline USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith Kline, of 315 East Fourth street, Dixon. The wedding will take place in June. Miss Pollard will be graduated this June from Sweet Briar college. She was presented to society this season at a ball given by the Norfolk German club. Leut. Kline is a graduate of Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., and attended the University of Minnesota. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

NEW FELLOWSHIP FOR YOUNG ADULTS WILL MEET ON MARCH 10

Plans are being rapidly completed for the organization of a new fellowship for young adults of the Methodist church which is to have its first meeting March 10 from 6:00 to 7:30 o'clock at the church. This new group, to be known as the "Methodist Young Adult Fellowship," will be for all young adults of the church, married and single. Fellowships will be stressed at all the meetings which will consist of group singing, fun and devotions.

The meeting March 10 is being planned by the following temporary committees: Program, Norma Wakefield, chairman. Rhythm, Merrick and Paul Marth; membership, Jane Smith, chairman. Mary Lawton, Elwood Rickard and Earl Slagle; publicity, Kathryn Herman, chairman. Stella Grobe and Lawrence Leydig; social, Helen Lawton, chairman. Ruth Waytenick Doris Seagren, and Rena Slagle. Chairmen of these committees will meet at the church Tuesday night at 7:30.

The social committee is planning a tea for Sunday's meeting to be followed by group singing led by Randall Warfel and devotions by Paul Marth. The Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Richard Belcher, will entertain.

New York, March 4—(AP)—If, when and where commercial television broadcasting moves from its present 44-216 megacycle assignment, it is just possible it may land a lot higher up in the frequency range than has been yet proposed.

Some engineers, exploring 10,000 megacycles, have gone far enough to suggest that operation there might turn out to be much more practicable.

The micro-waves around 10,000 megacycles, the interested engineers say, should provide space for an unlimited number of stations, give operating channels as wide as needed; permit pictures of great detail; allow adequate coverage when desired; and effect simplification of equipment, including antenna systems.

A Thought for Today
And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully.—Timothy 2:5.

Power acquired by guilt was never used for a good purpose.—Tacitus.

Aristotle and America, 1946
Aristotle is quoted as saying, "That government governs best which governs least." But Aristotle lived a long, long time ago. And he was, moreover, a philosopher rather than a politician.

The deathless Greek viewed government as exclusively the function of the appointed representatives of the people—as, indeed, it very nearly was in the third century Before Christ. And in the sense that he thus limited political authority over individual lives strictly to that required for the liberty and security of all, he assuredly voiced the desire of the present-day democrat in every nation throughout the world. We, too, prize freedom above all else, and wish to surrender only so much of it as is absolutely essential for our mutual protection in the complex national and international society of today.

But we of America have had ample, albeit unsolicited, opportunity in this 20th century A. D. to learn what Aristotle may have failed to discern: That government is simply authority—and that any group of individuals, be it legally elected or be it extra-legal which possesses and exercises the power of economic life-and-death over its fellow-men, actually governs them. We have learned, in other words, that our de facto government may reside not only in the president and congress of the United States, but also in the industrialists and the labor leaders of the nation, both of which tiny segments of our population possess the potential power to dictate wages and prices, to throttle our economy, to paralyze our collective life—literally to starve us.

And we have learned, too, that these economic oligarchs are perfectly willing to exploit their unique position; that they need, in fact, not the "green light" but only a hesitant "yellow" one from Washington in order to take over and effectively manage the country, by their own methods and in their own interests. We learned this all-important lesson during the "back-to-normalcy (and-to-industrial patronage). Republican regimes of the '20s and during the "clear - everything - with-Sidney" period of the New Deal.

We may not know just which party to the current wave of industrial strife sweeping the United States, labor or management, is primarily at fault. But we do know that the responsibility in each instance rests largely with one of the two. We know also that the vicious economic war must be halted, halted quickly and halted permanently, if it is not to maim this vaunted "Arsenal of Democracy" for years to come.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)
Palm Beach, Fla.—The Argentine election failed to furnish much substance for determination of a successful American foreign policy—now involved in sharp inner debate on the primary problem of how to treat with Russia and her Communism around the world.

Never before has the United States so boldly and openly attempted to influence an election in a foreign country. The state department blue book charge that the Nazi Fascist regime was timed to precede the final hot stages of the Argentine campaign—but its evidence was all inconclusively true.

The official inside explanation is, Secretary Byrnes received the evidence, dug from files seized in Germany by our army of occupation, only a short time before he gave it out officially in his book addressed to the Latin American republics. I hear he grappled for two hours in his office with the problem of whether to time the publication before the election or after. Personally he made the decision.

Peron, of course, not only had the backing of Argentine remnants of fascism, but the labor vote, or the support of labor leaders. The Byrnes blue book was invariably directed toward alienating his labor groups, and did in fact change the electoral prospects from a sure thing for Peron into a question of uncertainty. While Peron's opponent, Tamborini, had the support of Communists, the Russian following in Argentina is not strong now, due to the Catholic religious beliefs of the population. Tamborini's following ran into all groups.

Yet a Tamborini victory could not be counted upon to end the issue. Our authorities suspected it might be followed by a revolutionary coup d'etat, with or without military action. This implication was not dispelled by Peron himself in the announcement that he would not retire from politics, if defeated.

With this Argentine exception, the news of every passing day makes it more glaringly evident that the democratic world has not found satisfactory methods of curing its own weaknesses, or extricating itself from the role of dupe for Communism into which role the joint war plunged us.

On the very day the democratic British fronted their army mutinies not only in far-off India but at Aldershot in England itself. A paragraph news item from Communist-led Bulgaria reported suppression of a newspaper for ten days for writing something which could be interpreted as harmful to their army "unity."

The precise nature of our deficiencies in self-leadership, however, can be seen better behind the news that nine of the new American (south and north) cardinals spurned a dinner at the Spanish embassy—but not New York's Cardinal Spellman. This was a social affair, and no doubt, can be easily interpreted as a major diplomatic event. But in it are the same seeds of our own foreign policy confusion.

What do we want in Spain? Off-hand you would say we want abolition of Franco and fascism. Of course we do. This is what the nine cardinals who remained away said by their act. But do we want more than that? Truly what we want is a democratic Spain, a friendly and honestly democratic Spain. We have just seen in this war that when fascism was abolished in Bulgaria, Poland, we did not get friendly democracies in their place, but resistant and censorious (of us and Britain) Communists. Are we going to be so stupid as to do the same thing now by diplomacy in Spain, to look that too by delivering it into the hands of Communism?

Our foreign policy now says only that we should force Franco out. It is purely negative, and thus plays the game of the Communists more than our own. It neglects entirely the affirmative job to be done in Spain, lest we lose democratic friendship there, too, in victory as we have lost so much of Europe. This is what the wiser Cardinal Spellman seemed to say by his attendance at the dinner. (It probably means he will become Vatican state secretary.) If we are to win in Spain, we must get in there, get some friends there for our side, get as many friends as the Communists have there, and we cannot do it by the shortsighted, purely hateful, half-worked-out negative policy we have now.

The democratic nations will never win in their treating with the Soviets until they get on to these finer points of the game.

Ex-Tar Held for Rape Attempt on 3-Year-Old

St. Louis, March 4.—(AP)—A 22 year old former sailor with a "bad conduct" discharge from the Navy signed a confession Sunday that he led a 3 year old girl into an alley behind her home, Saturday night and attempted to rape her.

Police Capt. John A. Buck said the youth, father of a two-year old boy, would be questioned today in connection with the rape-slavey last Thanksgiving day of a 9 year old Shirley Jean Coxey.

The youth told police he was given a "bad conduct" discharge from the Navy in October, 1944, after having been AWOL for 42 days. He said his son was living in Texas with his wife, from whom he has been separated two years.

A neighborhood search began Saturday night shortly after the child's disappearance. Her uncle and grandfather apprehended the youth as he carried the child through the alley. Before police arrived, the girl's father pummeled the ex-sailor with his fists and had to be pulled away by neighbors.

City hospital attendants said they found evidence of attempted rape but that the girl was not injured except for bruises and lacerations on her back.

decided I'd better go after her. She had a crazy temper. I called and ran but she was running madly and she either wouldn't listen to me or couldn't hear me for the wind and the rain. Then there was a terrific flash of lightning. It was like running into hell and the oak started to fall. I saw in the light that Phil had veered her course. Then I couldn't see her for the branches of the oak tree. I was soaking wet, and I felt shaky from the crash of the tree so close at hand, and I turned and went back to the house. That is all I have to tell you, gentlemen."

THEY went out then and measured. They called in experts from the weather bureau and professors from the University in Philadelphia and scientists from the largest electrical company in the country. They all agreed with Pen Downes. Phil, either terrified by the crash, or even stunned by the lightning, had veered her course, and in doing so had become completely confused and had dashed forward over the quarry bank thinking she was running toward the house.

"Murder!" they had cried, and then our murder, as had others, petered out. "Accidental death," now they said. "Divine Providence!" Uncle Andrew had said.

For three days they had cried "Murder!" and in those three days the structure of our lives had tumbled about us. But my family is proud; they'll hide their scars and in time people will forget.

And in time Stephen Willson will know the day he has waited for: the day when his children would come home with their families. At lunch on Sunday, I saw its foreshadowing. Mr. Willson was at the head of the table and my Miss Jenny was at its foot. Between them on the one side were Fletcher and Dru with the twins between them. On the other side were Betsy and Travers, and I between them. And I just think I'll save my place at the table, and Andrew Stiles' place, too, until there are two others to sit between Betsy and Travers.

For there will be, you know.

Fair Enough

I have been meaning to tell you something about this interesting and rather loose-jointed city of Tucson in the southwestern desert and the country around and about. I am afraid we are having a little boom because we are so badly crowded that our Sunshine Club has been sending out word that this would be a good year not to come here and new little houses are popping up all over the place. However, I am confident that we will never be another Miami because, after all, we have no sea, and even allowing for a slip-up in the weather this winter, Miami and all Florida, south of a line drawn across the state above Palm Beach, are usually hotter. The weather really did slip for a few weeks. Snow, twice, if you can imagine, and almost every day ice on the dog's drinking basin, for about three weeks.

We have nothing to offer comparable to the luxury and excitement of the fast Florida resorts and most evenings the town is dark and the streets are quiet soon after the movies let out. Our race track runs only on Sunday afternoons and the steeds are quarter-horses and, as for table-games, I can report that, since 1940, I have heard of only two play-rooms in town, both running on the sneak, one of which was fearlessly exposed by our press and put out of business. I never heard what happened to the other.

The other day I read where George Dixon reported from Miami that wild extravagance was rife and that the noisiest spenders were black - marketeers and absolute scum. There has been nothing like that here and I doubt that we will be so honored by the saloon trash. We haven't the facilities for the kind of entertainment that they like which is a quirk for you considering that Tucson in the old days was a roaring camp.

We have many beautiful homes but mostly our homes are on the modest, domestic side and I think you would be impressed by the gumption and resourcefulness of so many people of that class which the government paternalists so loftily describe as "little". You drive along a dusty road pushed into the desert on the outskirts with little more effort than a once-over with a bull-dog and you see where a family are living in a tent or a trailer and putting up a little house, sometimes with the mother and children helping the dad who may be holding a job somewhere and working on his own house after hours.

Charles W. Herbert, a Hollywood and news-reel camera man, who spent years flapping around the world doing movie features called "The Magic Carpet" and "Going Places", has a knack of finding such pioneers and doing their stories. A veteran of the first war, he was living here when Pearl Harbor happened, joined up as a lieutenant in the Signal Corps and served in the Aleutians and at Anzio. Last year, soon after he was discharged, as captain, he discovered a man making a home of tamped earth, which means that he was shoveling soil into a wooden form and mashing it down with an iron ramp on a stake. Recently he came on a family of six from Michigan, parents and four children, whose story, briefly is this: The man's back was hurt in a farm accident and he was paralyzed for a time but recovered sufficiently to work in a war plant. His wife said that when he brought home his first pay they started a saving spree instead of a spending spree and when the doctor said they ought to come to this climate for the health of one of the children they bought a trailer and landed in the desert on the outskirts of Tucson. They paid $550 for an acre with city water and sanitation, bought a lot of cement blocks and built a house entirely themselves, including the plumbing and wiring and the roof. Material cost them $1,900.

Herbert is that kind, himself. He could make his own house if he hadn't one already and most of this last year he has been doing just about that in remodeling and outfitting an old building in town for a commercial photographic studio. In picture stories he does about the same that Ernie Pyle did in words when Ernie was rolling across our country discovering America and Americans, before he went to war.

Housing, of course, is terribly expensive but, as I say, I see more building here than I observed anywhere else coming down across country. They are using hardly any adobe now and going in for cement blocks, instead. A small, standing ago, sold for $6,500 recently and a $4,000 house went for $14,000, but there are still others who pull up and rough it a while and presently are seen at work with pick and shovel ditching in the desert.

Paris—Will Generalissimo Francisco Franco capitulate to demands for a democratic form of government in Spain or will it take another terrible civil war to settle the issue?

When I made a survey of the situation in Madrid a month ago it seemed clear that Franco recognized his dictatorship was doomed by allied opposition and that he was maneuvering for a graceful, face-saving exit from the rank of chief of state. I believe that he had hopes for retaining command of the Spanish army under a restoration of the monarchy, although this obviously would lay him open to a charge of trying to control the new government through his military strength.

The signs are that the generalissimo still is maneuvering for a compromise. Be that as it may, this is a tense moment for Europe, because it wouldn't take much to set the civil conflict of 1936-39 in motion again.

Militarily Franco's position is far more powerful than it was when he unseated the Republican regime in 1939 after three years of horror and established his dictatorship. He has had plenty of time to consolidate his ground and he hasn't neglected the military side.

The Spanish standing army is estimated at 700,000 men and while it is equipped mainly with light arms that's a lot of strength numerically. Moreover, Franco has been building highways and bridges which may have been designed for peaceful purposes but which would be invaluable for the quick movement of troops and supplies. In the vicinity of Madrid I saw many concrete roadcuts which commanded the highway leading to the capital. Obviously the generalissimo has anticipated the contingency of further civil war. It is equally clear he has had in mind that he who controls the army controls Spain.

I was in Madrid on the eve of the arrival in Portugal of Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, for further discussions with Franco's representatives regarding a possible restoration of the throne. These discussions had been going on quietly for a long time and I have small doubt that the generalissimo hoped an agreement would provide him with an avenue of escape from the dilemma created by the allied insistence that his totalitarian government must go.

The negotiations came a crop-per—or at least that was the announcement—and it is a fair guess that the difficulty may have centered in a demand by Franco that he be allowed to retain command of the army. Don Juan all along has insisted that control of the army should be in the hands of his for the foundations and then busy with the trowel and hammer.

And next year, maybe, roses 'round the door.

government and not subject to Franco's command.

As for an expression of public sentiment in Spain, you could hold your ear to the ground until frost-bitten without hearing very much worth while.

However, there are two things which the people certainly desire. They want an absolutely free national election at which they may choose their own government, and they want to achieve that election without another civil war.

That presents a delicate problem for the allies, because, while a firm hand is needed, obviously a wrong move might precipitate a tragedy.

The situation reminds me of a circumstance I encounter each summer while camping out in the great Maine woods on fishing expeditions. Everywhere you see signs warning you not to be careless about throwing away lighted matches or cigarettes as they may start terrible forest fires. You could cause an awful conflagration by flipping a match into the Spanish tinder right now.

American Editors' Views on France
Paris, March 4.—(AP)—The first impression of France gained by seven American newspaper executives on a visit, they said, was the extent of hardship which the people are taking in stride.

The group, which is to leave soon on a two-weeks tour of France and Germany, was invited hereby a French newspaper syndicate to study provincial publications and aspects of rehabilitation. Their reaction to date was typified by these comments from two Illinois editors in the party:

Edward Lindsay, editor of the Deatur (Ill.) Newspaper, Inc., "I am surprised at how much has been accomplished with so little, so far. That is based on the trip through the Renault plant and the obvious willingness of the French to go as far as they can with the facilities at their command."

Philip D. Adler, editor and publisher of the Kewanee (Ill.) Star-Courier and representative of 10 Lee Syndicate papers published in five states:

Have Chins Up
"The only impression one gets here is that the mass of the French people are taking a lot of sacrifices with their chins up which I do not think the American people would do. And I think they are doing it in the hope that we will give them help before it is too late."

"I think also that the French workers are doing a great job without complaining, and I think they'll come out of this much stronger than we believe. I do not feel discouraged, they are probably just in the low ebb of a trough."

On the subject of American help for the French Lindsay said: "Obviously, it will be necessary for the American people to help feed the French for the next few years and provide other facilities so that it will be possible for France to regain her previous position in the pre-war economy of Europe, which is important because France controls the political complexion of Europe."

Ticket Sale Opens at High School for Sectional Tourney

Ducat Orders Taken for Rockford Meet; East Favored to Win

Dixon will get a minimum allotment of 100 tickets for the East Rockford sectional tournament in which the Ducks will perform, according to Principal B. J. Frazer, with the probability that the local allotment will exceed that figure.

Tickets have not been received here as yet, but orders are being taken at the high school now upon payment and the tickets will be distributed in order of application as soon as they are received. They are expected to arrive later today or tomorrow.

East Rockford's gymnasium has a seating capacity of 2200 and half of that total will be split between the three visiting schools: Freeport, Oregon, and Dixon, on the basis of their enrollments. So it is reasonably certain that the local school will get a ticket allotment well in excess of the 100 minimum.

The tourney opens Thursday night in the East high gym, with the Rabs, winners of 19 games in 22 starts, facing Freeport, which owns 14 decisions against 8 losses. Their game is scheduled to open at 7:15 p. m. At 8:15 the Ducks, whose record now reads 11 wins and 8 losses, face Oregon's entry, winners of 18 engagements his year and losers six times. The winners meet Friday night at 8 o'clock in the finals to decide who goes to Champaign for the State finals.

Heavy favorites to take the honors are the Rabs of East Rockford, who have been beaten only three times this season and currently rank No. 2 among Illinois high school quintets. One of their defeats, the first one this year, was administered by Sterling Township in the DeKalb Holiday Invitational cage tourney during the Christmas holidays.

One of Freeport's 14 victories this season was gained over the Ducks in the locals opening contest of the year for the locals. They are the only aggregation entered in the meet which the Dixon team has played previously.

Besides finishing in a tie for second place with Polo in the Rock River conference race, Oregon's chief accomplishments this season include winning the Mt. Carroll Invitational tournament and an upset victory by a 43 to 40 count over the powerful Morrison Mallets two weeks ago.

Rockford Winner to Meet Chicago King

(By The Associated Press)

Here's the way winners of next week's 15 Illinois sectional tournaments will be matched in the state high school basketball finals at Champaign March 14-16:

Upper bracket:

Hillsboro sectional tournament winner vs. Decatur winner; Pittsfield vs. Maywood; Centralia vs. Moline; LaSalle vs. Robinson.

Lower bracket:

Chicago vs. East Rockford; Pekin vs. Collinsville; Carbondale vs. Joliet; Champaign vs. Macomb.

Eight first round games will be played at University of Illinois Huff gym, starting at 10 a. m. and continuing until nearly midnight, Thursday, March 14. Four quarterfinal games Friday, March 15, will precede the afternoon semi-finals and the evening third-place and championship games Saturday, March 16.

Cardinals and Yanks Favored to Take Top Spots in the Majors

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees are favored to win the major league pennant races this year in the first winter book released by James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner.

A Cardinal partisan must wager $10 to net $7 under Carroll's odds while a Yankee supporter must risk $5 to win $7.

The world champion Detroit Tigers and the Boston Red Sox are paired in second position in the American league with a better placing $2 on the line to $4 on either club.

In the National league, the champion Chicago Cubs are ranked second with a Cub fan putting up $2 and collecting $5 if he's right. Carroll's complete odds (first figure is the return, second figure is the wager on a bet the club will finish in first place):

Champaign, Rabs Top Poll for Cage Tourney Laurels

Kewanee Draws Ninth in Vote; Morrison Quint Gets Attention

Springfield, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—Four teams headed by Champaign's rampaging Maroons were unanimous choices of sports editors today to survive sectional tournaments Thursday and Friday and enter the Illinois high school basketball finals next week.

The other three clear cut sectional favorites in the 13th weekly Associated Press poll were East Rockford, Marion and Decatur. The latter team is the defending state champion.

Champaign, just as it has the last six weeks, overshadowed all other contenders in popularity. A Joliet writer nominated East Rockford as the best bet for the state title, but the other 17 writers placed Champaign on top.

East Ranks Second

Although Centralia, Waukegan and Paris were not unanimous selections to win sectionals, the balloting held their state prospects in higher esteem than Marion and Decatur, whose tournament opposition is not considered as tough.

The poll picked these 15 teams as probable sectional winners, and rated them in the order of their state title prospects:

Pos.	Team	Won	Lost
1	Champaign	32	3

CARNIVAL

By Dick Turner

"It all started when I was a schoolboy and someone put a tack on my seat!"

tions but to fight a new war every 20 years."

Food for Reflection

He was drawing the long bow, of course, but his remark provides food for reflection. So far as Germany is concerned she shouldn't fight again for 20 years because she is too badly smashed up. It will take her far longer than that to regain even a modicum of her old strength. Still, in due course, she will recover and then the question of peace will depend on her morals at that time, and her morals will in turn depend on her associations and education between now and then.

Then there's another aspect of the situation which shouldn't be overlooked. Because of her geographical position Germany is likely to be the political balance wheel of Europe for a long time to come.

The troublesome and dangerous question of balance of power among the great nations will depend heavily on what happens in Germany. The peace and security of Europe clearly seem to turn on German rehabilitation, which will result ultimately in a state that is wholly independent of power politics. That is to say, her neutrality is vital. Should she fall under the influence of any great power it would create a situation that would invite another war.

CURED CROAKING

Guests at a California hotel were bothered by the croaking of bullfrogs at night. The hotel manager rigged up a powerful searchlight system, bathed the nearby pool with light, and the frogs stopped their nocturnal music.

Uncertainty in U. S. Zone in Reich is Embarrassment

Our Allies Feel America Is Planning End of Occupation

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Frankfurt, Germany—There is abroad in the American zone a spirit of uncertainty that strikes me as being a grave embarrassment to our military government, which, it should be noted, has one of the world's toughest jobs.

I refer to rather widespread feeling in this zone, and one finds it registered among some of our allies, that the American public is weakening in its earlier determination to occupy Germany militarily come hell or high water until all the nazis and Prussian aggression had been knocked out of it.

This feeling has been engendered by a widespread and insistent demand by the home folk for immediate demobilization of soldier relatives, coupled with the lack of adequate replacements for those demobilized.

You hear the comment that many Americans are reverting to isolationism. I don't believe for a moment, however, that the American public has altered its views about handling Germany. Surely there has been a misinterpretation of our attitude.

It's hard to see how anyone could fail to regard with sympathetic understanding a desire to get the release of our boys who have been long in service abroad, for that's natural.

However, distance often distorts vision and the United States is a long way from the occupied zones of Germany.

Considerable uncertainty. Thus, we find a considerable amount of uncertainty over here regarding just what policy the American public wants to pursue and uncertainty, of course, is a bad thing for morale.

It's bad for the occupation forces and it's bad for the Germans, who are prone to look on it as a sign of weakness.

There is no call to deliver a homily in this column on the rehabilitation of Germany and Europe as a whole.

The allied leadership has made the needs quite clear. Reformation of Germany and the politico-economic reconstruction of Europe depends upon a long term occupation of the Reich by the allies—by all the major allies. The alternative is continued disorganization and ultimately more war.

British Appear Set

The British appear to be set for at least a 30-year occupation.

One assumes that the Russians and French have similar intentions.

Your columnist also assumes that the people of the United States have the same aim, but it would be most useful if this could be demonstrated for the benefit of the doubtful over here.

I was chatting with an American officer of high rank yesterday and asked him what he would think of America abandoning occupation of Germany.

He cast a caustic eye on me and replied:

"Well maybe it would be a good thing from one standpoint. It all depends on what the people back home want to achieve. So long as we maintain an army abroad and thus separate families we are lowering the birth rate in the United States. Perhaps on the whole the United States would prefer not to trouble with long military occupa-

Alien Employee of Ogle Farmer Ends His Life in Fire

Body Found in Incinerator on Farm North of Byron on Saturday

The Japanese butler at the Albert Martin estate on highway 2 north of Byron committed suicide Saturday by jumping unaided into the roaring fire he built in a cement incinerator about 50 yards from the house in which he was employed.

The charred body of the suicide victim, Paul Yoshiharu Kasugai, 35, was found by Martin after he had conducted a wide search throughout the estate grounds.

Apparently Kasugai had not uttered a sound when he leaped into the flaming incinerator, as all other persons on the estate were unaware of his actions until the body was discovered nearly two hours later.

Verdict of Suicide
A verdict of suicide was returned at an inquest conducted by Coroner Fred Horner of Rochelle at the Rock of Ages funeral home in Byron.

An alien, who was allowed to move from San Francisco to Chicago by the relocation authority before he became an employee of Martin eight months ago, Kasugai made elaborate preparations for killing himself. He left a crudely scrawled note by the incinerator in which he stated he was committing suicide. He gave no reason for his act. The note was not addressed to anyone.

The butler leaped into the roaring wood and paper fire after removing his clothing. About four feet from incinerator was found a small carton containing the note, a pair of glasses and a small alarm clock. In another carton, he had neatly placed his trousers, underwear and slippers. He hung his white shirt on the limb of a nearby tree.

Witnesses At Inquest
No reason for the act was brought out at the inquest, but E. E. Johnson, who farms the land on the Martin estate, and Sven Noren, caretaker and gardener, said Kasugai had been acting peculiarly for the last few days.

It is believed that the Japanese built the fire between 8 and 9 Saturday morning. In his suicide note he explained that he had completed cleaning the house and was using the paper he had gathered to start the fire. Other members of the household did not become aware that he was missing until about 10 a.m., when the search was started which ended in the discovery of his charred body about 11 a.m.

Martin testified that he found the body in the still smoldering incinerator after he located his servant's clothing and suicide note. He notified Deputy Sheriff James Todd, who conducted the investigation for the Ogle county sheriff's department.

Burial At Byron
Kasugai, who was unmarried, furnished excellent references when he entered his employ. Martin told the deputy sheriff. He said he became acquainted with the Japanese through an advertisement the butler had inserted in a Chicago newspaper. Graveside services for Kasugai were conducted at the Byron cemetery, Sunday afternoon by the Rev. John Arnot, pastor of the United church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 3, was:

"CHRIST JESUS"

The Golden Text was:

"Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. . . . And this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHT-EOUSNESS."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots: And the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord. . . . as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." (Isa. 11: 1, 2; John 1: 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The advent of Jesus of Nazareth marked the first century of the Christian era, but the Christ is without beginning of years or end of days. Throughout all generations both before and after the Christian era, the Christ, as the spiritual idea, the reflection of God,—has come with some measure of power and grace to all prepared to receive Christ, Truth. Abraham, Jacob, Moses, and the prophets caught glorious glimpses of the Messiah, or Christ, which baptized these seers in the divine nature, the essence of Love. The divine image, idea, or Christ was, is, and ever will be inseparable from the divine Principle, God." (p. 333).

Mrs. Theresa West Elmendorf was the first woman librarian to become president of the American Library Association in 1911-12.

P-T. A. News

The March meeting of the grade school P-T. A. association will be held at he grade school, Tuesday evening, March 5, at 7:30 p.m. The topic for discussion will be, "Safety in the Home, in School, and at Work." W. R. Keeley of Dixon will appear as the guest speaker. Mr. Keeley has been interested for a number of years in the National Council of Safety and its efforts to make people more safety conscious. The school Patrol will be given special recognition at this meeting and will be guests of honor.

Following the meeting mothers of the first and second grade pupils will conduct a bake sale in the school lunch room. All parents and friends of the school are invited to attend this meeting.

Dr. M. S. Dumont, has been elected president of the Sunset Golf club. The directors also elected George Neher vice president, R. G. Hough, secretary and Les Lundgren treasurer. Retiring president Paul Hagermann will continue as chairman of the grounds committee. The new directors to manage this year's club activities are Clifford Bry and O. A. Hanke.

Candidates are Initiated
Veterans Honor certificates were presented to 18 members of Mt. Morris Moose lodge No 1551 at a recent meeting of the fraternal order. Thirteen similar awards also were made to members in absentia. Also a class of 21 candidates was initiated by the degree team, this brings the membership of the local lodge well over 20. The work was conferred by the team composed of Paul Hagemann, Lee Hagemann, Herman Hagemann, Wayne Mumma, of Rockford, Arthur Barnhart of Aurora and Harry Lindgren of Des Plaines. It was the first work of the team in a period of almost four years.

Womans Club to Meet
The members of the Mt. Morris Womans club will entertain their husbands and friends at its annual guest night dinner today at 6:30 p.m. The program will be given by Edna Nichols Jacobson of Rockford, who will give a dramatic review of a current best seller. This is Mrs. Jacobson's ninth season in Illinois. She has given her programs north, south, east and west. She has appeared before clubs and groups both large and small, reviewing books and presenting scenes from the current plays.

Mrs. Jacobson has been in radio for several years, writing and broadcasting advertising sketches and conducting the Mother Goose children's hour from a large eastern station. She has also contributed articles and poems to various magazines. The members of the Womans club are looking forward to a most enjoyable evening.

Students Are Named
Four Mt. Morris students, Donna Lutzer, a junior, and Bob Goodrich, William Incontro and Raymond Arnold, seniors, are numbered among the 13 Illinois young people who received honorable mention in the state-wide essay contest sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's clubs. The contest was held in conjunction with the International Sportsmen's show last week at the Coliseum in Chicago. More than 2,500 students submitted essays on the topic, "What Conservation Means to Me."

New Beauty Salon
Mary Sue Leach, formerly of Decatur, opened the Mary Sue Beauty salon last Monday in the room at the rear of the Kreuger barber shop. Mrs. Leach, an experienced hair stylist and beauty operator, was employed at the Kable News company several years ago.

Personals
Vernon Lux spent the latter part of last week in Chicago on business.
Dale Lizer and Mickey Deuth of Forrester were the officials this week at the regional basketball tournament in Freeport.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hough spent a few days last week in Chicago where Mr. Hough attended the annual convention of the Illinois Retail Hardware Dealers' association, of which he is a director.

Leland Cratty has opened a dry cleaning plant at Fort Atkinson, Wis. He will move his family to that city as soon as living quarters can be found.

John Althouse is spending ten days' vacation with his parents here after completing his semester's work at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. O'Neil, for the past several years residents of California, left Friday for Wichita, Kan., following a 10 day visit here with the J. F. McChesneys. Mrs. O'Neil, the former Edith Judd, and her husband plan to locate in Denver soon.

Rev. Foster B. Stadler of the Brethren church will be the speaker next Wednesday evening at the first of a series of Lenten services being sponsored by the Polo Ministerial association. The meeting will be held at he Polo Evangelical church. He will speak on the subject, "The Lenten Summons."

Carthage College Project
The people of the local Lutheran church have subscribed more than $2,000 for a new men's dormitory to be built on the campus of Carthage college. It is hoped that work on the new building can be started this spring. The new residence hall will provide rooms for 134 students, in addition to the dean's apartment, lounge and other facilities. It will be a fitting memorial, not only to the Diamond Jubilee of Carthage college—75 years in developing Christian leadership—but also to the more than 500 Carthage graduates and former students who were in the service. Those sponsoring the drive here are O. A. Hanke, president of the board of trustees of the college, and G. S. Powers, former pastor. The Rev. A. M. Neumann, was chairman of the campaign in Illinois.

Named to State Police
Harry Horton, veteran of World War II, recently was appointed by Gov. Dwight Green to the Illinois State Highway police force, and is now in Chicago preparing for his new position. He was discharged from the Army Air Force in December, and was in the service 65 months, one year of which was in Italy. He will work out of Mt. Morris it is understood.

Candidate for Sheriff
Harold Palmer of Mt. Morris, chief of police for the past 10 years, has made formal announcement of his candidacy for the office of sheriff for Ogle county. He is a life-long Republican and has served 17 years as a police officer, coming here from Rochelle. He is a veteran of World War No. 1, where he saw service in France with Troop 8, Second Cavalry. Since coming to Mt. Morris he has been an active member of the American Legion. He has always been a friend of youth and boys and girls. Mt. Morris is behind Mr. Palmer in this important venture.

Returns From Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kable have returned from a six weeks' vacation in Mexico City and Guatemala. They left Mt. Morris Jan. 24, spent some time in New Orleans where they were joined by Dr. and Mrs. Leo Hardt on Feb. 3, and the party left by plane for Mexico City and then on to Guatemala City, a journey of nearly seven hours by plane. They found the weather delightful in Guatemala and visited many points of interest in that vicinity. Mr. Kable took about 400 feet of colored motion pictures. While in Guatemala City, Dr. Hardt lectured to medical students and professors at the University of Guatemala, speaking through a Spanish interpreter. He also demonstrated his gastroscope on patients in a local hospital. The party returned to New Orleans by plane and back to Chicago by train.

Conservation Program
The Ogle County Soil Conservation district will hold its annual meeting in Oregon on Monday, March 4, at 1:00 p. m. The board has secured Rev. Heintzman, a young rural minister of Melvin, Ill., to give the address of the day. Rev. Heintzman interprets an appropriate Bible text in terms of soil husbandry and speaks enthusiastically about his subject. A motion picture in color, illustrating soil conservation will be shown.

Tax Quiz
BY NIGEL D. CAMPBELL
Collector of Internal Revenue
(Editor's note: This is the sixth of a series of 15 brief articles, in question and answer form, explaining how to fill out your federal income tax return.)
Q. How much exemption can my family and I get on our 1945 income tax?
A. For a family of four, the exemption is $500 for you, $500 for your wife, and $500 for each dependent. For normal tax (rate 3 per cent), a flat $500 exemption is allowed regardless of size of family, unless the return includes income of more than one person. If husband and wife file a joint return and each had income of $500 or more, they get a joint normal tax exemption of $1,000; if one has less than $500 income, the joint exemption is $500 plus the actual amount of the smaller income.

Q. How do I take credit for these exemptions on my return?
A. You list the exemptions as called for by the form. If you file on a Withholding Receipt, the Collector will determine your tax from a table which makes an automatic allowance for your exemptions. If you file form 1040 as a short form, you will determine your tax from the same table. If you file Form 1040 as a long form, you will find spaces on Page 4 to subtract your exemptions.

Q. Can a husband claim an exemption for his wife?
A. Yes, if they make a joint return, or if she had no income and was not the dependent of another taxpayer (her father, for example). If husband and wife file separate returns, each must claim his own exemptions on his own return, and must not duplicate any exemptions.

Q. A husband and wife together are entitled to $1,000 surtax exemption. In filing separate returns, can they split their exemptions in unequal amounts, say $800 to one and $200 to the other?
A. No. Each is entitled to his own $500 exemption and cannot transfer any part of it.

Tomorrow: Exemptions for Dependents.
